the immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

pers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries prepared

The Anti-Nebraskaism of the Bangor Journal.

The article published in the Kennebec Journal a short time ago, from a Somerset Strait Whig, exposing the designs of the Bangor Journal to transfer the Strait Whigs over to Nebraska pro-slavery Locofocoism, has drawn from the latter paper a leader of a column and a half, in an attempt to blind the eyes of its readers to the real position which it occupies.

That paper boldly claims to be a true and consistent opponent of the Nebraska act and of the extension of slavery. The editor asks:

Have we a single reader who does not know that this paper from the beginning has been opposed to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and has earnestly and severely condemned President Pierce and all who had a hand in its repeal? Is that writer such a trifle ass as not to know that this paper has been the consistent opponent of the extension of "slavery," and that it would use all constitutional means to prevent it?

And has that paper "a single reader who does not know, that while opposing with empty words the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and condemning with equally empty denunciation the part which President Pierce took in that matter, it has with all its energies given political aid and comfort, to the very party which perpetrated the iniquity?—nay, entered into an acknowledged alliance with it, and helped to the uttermost in defeating the only true and practical anti-Nebraska party of the State? Who does not know that it has gone body and soul into a coalition with that Nebraska locofocoism which defends every principle and every effect of the Nebraska bill, and that all its political acts are directly to the end of placing that party in power? And yet, with the most brazen-faced assurance, the Journal still claims to be an anti-Nebraska paper!—says that it is a "consistent opponent of the extension of slavery, and would use all constitutional means to prevent it?"

What means would it use? Dare the Journal say that the "National" party to which it claims to belong, will stand up in Congress and elsewhere and demand to have the Missouri restriction restored? Will it declare that slavery can and must be excluded by act of Congress from all National Territories. Does it say that no new Slave States shall be admitted from these Territories? Does it go in for these practical measures? Does it consider these to be "constitutional means" for preventing the extension of slavery? Not a bit of it! The "National Union" party about which it places so much—composed in part the New York Silver Greys, the Twelfth Section Know Nothings, the Southern Americans, and most of the Strait Whigs in Congress who voted for Henry M Fuller for Speaker, after he had come out in open opposition to prohibiting slavery in the territories—this National Union party," to which the Journal belongs is utterly and entirely opposed to these practical measures for preventing the extension of slavery—declaring them unconstitutional.

What means then would the Journal use to prevent the extension of slavery? None at all, that we can perceive. It can talk about its opposition to the Nebraska bill, and its astonishing devotion to freedom—but its acts are all the other way, in favor of the Nebraska pro-slavery party—nay, it has even in words substantially endorsed Pierce's squatter sovereignty doctrine which denies the right of Congress to exclude slavery from the Territories, and has been complimented by Pierce's organ for its "democracy" in this respect. Can a paper like this, which has done its best to restore Nebraska locofocoism to power in this State, and which, in its self styled "nationality" is found endorsing men who are supported by southern slavery extensionists—can such a paper as this advance the shadow of a claim to be considered an anti-Nebraska paper? Is there any Strait Whig who can be deceived by it, in this respect. And—to go a step further—does any one suppose that a "National" Whig party could have any existence, any support whatever from the South, if its organs were really in favor of anti-Nebraska or Wilmot proviso doctrines?

Let us look at a man whom the Journal considers as a good Strait Whig.

This "anti-Nebraska," Strait Whig paper, claimed Henry M. Fuller of Pennsylvania as a Strait Whig—declared that the stand taken by him and his friends in Congress, against a republican and anti-Nebraska candidate was "patriotic and wise" and "one that would commend itself to the sound judgement of the people" and favored Fuller's election to the Speakership, in opposition to that of Mr Banks or some equally objectionable person.

Now let us see what are the sentiments of this Henry M Fuller, who was upheld by the famous anti-Nebraska Journal, a paper that now professes to go for restricting slavery in the territories.

Mr Fuller made the following exposition of his sentiments, on the floor of Congress, in reply to the enquiries of Mr. Zollicoffer of Tennessee

> I do it, in the absence of express authority, that Congress has no constitutional right to legislate upon the subject of slavery [Applause] I hold that the Territories are the common property of all the States, and that the people of all the States have a common right to enter upon and occupy those Territories, and they are protected in that occupation by the flag of our common country, that Congress has no constitutional power either to regulate slavery into or exclude it from a Territory. Neither has the Territorial Legislature, in my judgment, any right to legislate upon that subject, except so far as it may be necessary to protect the citizens of the Territory in the enjoyment of their PROPERTY, and that in pursuance of its organic law, as established by congressional legislation.

Here it will be seen that Mr. Fuller not only denies the constitutional power of Congress to prohibit slavery in the Territories, but adopts the further and more utter Southern doctrines, that even the Territorial Legislatures have no power to exclude slavery, but may legislate to PROTECT slave PROPERTY within their borders. And yet the Journal claims him as a good Strait Whig.

If merely to allow the transit of slaves now and then through free States would bring our laboring men into a "degrading competition" with slave labor, what would be done by emancipating the slaves and scattering them throughout the free States as permanent residents, to which the doctrines of the Whig's party lead?

Democrat.

In the first place, if the slaves were emancipated, they would all be needed to perform the labor which they now perform at the South—and being freemen, and in a position to obtain something like an adequate reward for their labor, they would be willing to remain at the South.

In the next place, if they were to labor in the North, it would be as freemen, and at freemen's wages.

"Merely allowing" the transit of slaves will eventually permit the residence of slaves among us.

ANOTHER REVIEW FOR CHARITABLE PURPOSES. We understand that the Ladies of the Unitarian Benevolent Society, having been strongly solicited to repeat the entertainment of Friday evening last, will probably do so on some evening next week, perhaps on Tuesday. The general arrangements will be the same as on the former occasion, when they were highly satisfactory—with the difference, however, that, by the advice of many, the price of admission will be 50 cents for gentlemen, and 25 cents for ladies and children. The net proceeds are to be devoted to some benevolent object. If funds enough should be obtained by this and other means, it is in contemplation to establish an Industrial agency for the benefit of indigent families, similar to the agencies established in some other cities, and found to be advantageous to the cause of practical Benevolence. If this should not be done, however, there are charities already established in our city, which need funds and to which they may be applied.

Refreshments, as at the former levee, can be had by those who desire them, but are not included in the fee of admission.

The net proceeds of the Levee on Friday evening, amounting to something over $100. The occasion was a generally pleasant and popular one, a much larger company will probably be received on its repetition.

Norombega Hall, its ante-rooms and its galleries are well calculated, by their beauty, amplitude and convenience, for popular occasions like these—and will admirably accommodate all who may desire to attend.

The marine disasters of the present winter have been very numerous, involving great loss of property and life. The unusually cold weather upon our own Atlantic coast has caused many of the disasters, independent of the frequent and severe storms. But the disasters have been even more numerous and fatal, on the western coast of Europe. The recent foreign arrivals bring intelligence of disastrous storms on the coast of Spain, by which nearly 150 vessels have been wrecked or driven ashore, and about 600 lives lost. Several American ships were among those lost. The loss of other American ships is reported in the telegraphic news by the Persia. Besides these are the Meteor of Boston, Mary Green of New York, and Sebago of Portland.

New Publications

We have received two more numbers of the handsome edition of Cooper's Works, now nearly completed by Messrs Stringer & Townsend of New York.

"The Red Rover," the chief favorite of the author's sea stories. The scene is laid at Newport and on board ship, in 1759. It is briefly, the adventurers of a young lieutenant, who enters a pirate's service in order to protect the heroine and her aunt, who have embarked in a slow-going, heavy-freighted trading vessel which the Rover has determined to make his prize. It was written in 1828.

"The Pathfinder," one of the latest works of Cooper, in which favorite scenes and characters of earlier ones are recalled to us. Leatherstocking re-appears as the Pathfinder, and the adventurous young lieutenant as Jasper Western, a fresh water navigator of the Lakes. The scene is laid at Oswego, and on Lake Ontario, about the middle of the last century.

Bugbee & Co are the Bangor agents for these works

The U S Steamship Niagara is to be launched from the Navy Yard at Brooklyn, on the 22d inst. She is an immense vessel—her tonnage being 5200 and her length on deck 345 feet. Her armament, consists of twelve pivot guns, carrying 100lb shot, with a charge of 15 pounds of powder. Her cost is about $1,000,000.

The Niagara is not on larger as the Atlantic, now building for the Collins line—the latter measuring 5888 tons, and 332 feet in length

The new steamship Persia, of the Cunard line, measures 3600 tons, and 320 feet in length.

Among the new American books are: The Year Book of the Nations, by Rhiu Rutter; Pocket-Book for Railroad and Civil Engineers, by Byrne, Cases relating to the Law of Railways; Collection of Familiar Quotations; with Complete Indices of Authors and Subjects; Life and Death on the Ocean, by Henry Howe; Lives of American Merchants, by Freeman Hunt; Origin of the American Indians, by John McIntosh. The Confidential Correspondence of Napoleon Bonaparte; Evils of Vaccination, by Dr Wittinger

A warm southerly rain storm commenced here about 12 o'clock on Monday night, and continued till about 8 in the morning. In the afternoon there was mingled rain and snow, followed by a change of wind and thick snow squalls from northwest.

The rain was very welcome, as both cisterns and wells were getting dry, and there was just enough of it to replenish the reservoirs without much damage to the sleighing.

We acknowledge the receipt of a private note from "An old subscriber." The matter which he suggests will be attended to so far as practicable; but he will perceive that we cannot always avoid the difficulty of which he speaks.

Lectures to Children.

MR. EDITOR.—While our citizens appear to be wide awake to the advantages and enjoyment of public lectures, I ask a place in your columns, to propose to them a course of similar entertainments, particularly, but not exclusively, for the benefit of the young.

It is not contemplated to institute this enterprise for the present season, as much has been done and is doing in this way, but to present the idea now, that it may be subject of consideration until a time arrives when action may be thought advisable.

It will not be denied, I think, that our youth should share equally with themselves in all means of moral and mental improvement, but much benefit is realized to a startling extent by them, when we may be greatly benefited. That they acquire much good by being permitted to attend our public lectures, is no doubt true, for they there learn manners and modes of social intercourse which are learned only by observation and experience; but in nearly every case the whole entertainment, moral and intellectual, is lost to them from being incompetent to their capacities. Now let us suppose there be a lecturer qualified in all respects to address young minds, and by long and familiar acquaintance with their inclinations, their necessities, their sources of pleasure, their power of reasoning, their tendency to denial and to belief,—let us suppose such a speaker to address such an audience, shall we not conclude that much benefit would result? Now, I propose that measures be instituted that will eventually be producing these results.

Whoever has been accustomed to addressing juvenile assemblies, or to hearing such addresses, has been made sensible of the great difficulty of the task. Great men, with however great acquirements, are seldom qualified for the service. Occasionally we meet with individuals who seem by nature designed for it, and who by much experience would arrive to great excellence. The proposed institution, it will, we think, in its operation, call out this almost latent talent, and apply it to one of the most useful purposes

I propose that we establish here in Bangor a course of six annual lectures, to be delivered to the minor part of our population, with reference to relative standing in character, education, station, wealth, temporal condition, or religious relations, moral improvement being to great end and aim, open and free to all who may accept the invitation, and to be continued so long as families, schools, churches and social institutions shall have a being.

Suppose that nothing here in Bangor, but in all our great towns and cities, these institutions be established and found in operation, may we not look for important advantages to result from them?

The delivering of public lectures becoming professional, and of this proposition can be consummated, the profession, in this department, will, I think, in due time, be full.

That the adaptation of the instruction be best suited to the necessities of the occasion, it may be well to divide the youth into three classes, by age,—say those up to five years for the younger class, those from five to fifteen for the middle class, and those from fourteen to twenty for the senior class, each class having a particular lecturer, the subjects to be selected by the board of managers.

But the minutia of arrangement can be provided for by those persons who may take interest enough in the project to get it up.

Should these suggestions be thought worthy of an experiment, gentlemen and ladies of this opinion can move in the business as they may think proper.

ENORMOUS RAILROAD SCALE.—The largest railroad scale in the world, in actual use, is now being built by Messrs. Fairbanks & Co., of Vermont, for the Mine Hill and Schuylkill Haven Railroad, in Pennsylvania. It is one hundred and twelve feet long, and is capable of weighing a load of a hundred tons.

Father Mathew, of temperance notoriety, is now one of the missionaries of the Church of Rome, in the Feejee Islands. So says an exchange.

LEGISLATURE OF MAINE.

SATURDAY, Feb. 9.

SENATE. The Committee on Inland Waters reported bill to incorporate the Mattawamkeag Boom Company Ordered to be printed.

The Committee on Agriculture reported bill to incorporate the Washington County Agricultural Aid Society

The Committee on Division of Towns reported bill to incorporate the town of Hilton, (in the County of Aroostook)

Passed to be engrossed—An act to increase the capital stock of the Manufacturers' and Traders' Bank, of Portland, to increase the capital stock of the Calais Bank, to increase the capital stock of the American Bank, Hallowell.

HOUSE. On motion of Mr Rogers, of East Machias, the Land Agent was instructed to inform the Legislature, what timber lands, if any, have been sold or conveyed since last annual report, on what trades the timber has been sold, the time given to take it off, the price per acre, the time of payment, and by what authority such sales were made, also what permits, if any, either written or verbal, have been granted on the public lands, under which operations are now being made, and what authority such permits were granted, and whether he has reason to believe that trespassing made on any lands belonging to the State without permission or license, and if any, have been taken to prevent such trespass.

DEATH OF PROF. CHANNING.—This distinguished gentleman died on Thursday night last, of congestion of the lungs. He was 68 years. He filled the station of Professor of Rhetoric and Oratory in Harvard University for 30 years, and resigned in 1851. He was well known throughout the country as the graduates from 1819 to 1851 entertain much respect for his character. He received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws in 1847 Professor Channing was the brother of the late Unitarian divine and writer, the Rev. Friend Wm. Ellery Channing.

SINGULAR FACT.—No citizen of the United States was ever convicted of treason. It is quite probable that this is the only government in the world in which the same thing can be truly said. Our people make the government, and they will do no act that will tend to destroy their own work. Treason can alone be committed where there is no political liberty.

Ethan Spike at Washington.

The following is an extract from Ethan's last, in the Portland Transcript. It will be seen that Ethan is again a disappointed man:

WALL—as I was sayin—I'm here arter the Speekership, cheer! You see I learn it stated in the papers that it didn't need to be a member of Congress to get this situation, but that any good stout an aout dimecrat was eligible. An' moreover that the President was in a great pucker to have that cheer filled, because he's got a lot of thunder on hand that is paourin', and the uberlushumats won't let him tap it as long as the cheer hant got nobody into it. When I heerd that I just got a recommend from the tawn clark, an' put for this national metropolorium.

Things look well. I've been in conference with the President twice. Pears to be a rum sort of a feller, an' think my chance is good. Says he to me, says he—the last time I seed him—Ethan, says he, the dimecrats will all vote for you, says he, an ef you can get the no-nothings to go for you, your sure, says he. He says I can easily pass myself off as a No-Nothin, an' offered to bet the drinks that not one in a hundred would take me for anything else. But as I want to be sartain an' leave no steam onturned, I want you to get this affydavy signed by the seechkimen of Hornby an' send it on to me

HORNBY, 1856

To whom it may consarn—Greetin'—This may sartify that to aour best belief and knowledge, Ethan Spike is a natral No Nothin' an' has bin so from his youth upards.

The President has shown this form to General Cushion, an' that flunkshunary says 'tas legall. The President says onct get me in the cheer an' he'll give Old England 5ths.—Ethan, says he, there never was so good a chance to make a show, says he. John Bull says he, has as much as he can do to take keer of the Cumeers an' Roosh uns, an' we can bully him as much as we likes, says he. But, says I, General, what have you got to pick a fuss about? says I. Plenty, says he. There's the furrin enlistment for one. But, says I, pears to me the Britishers backed out of that, acknowledged an' done the handsome thing, says I. So they did, says he, but the people dont exactly know it, an then there's the nigerogger question, says he. Wal, says I, I dont know as they are altogether onreasonable thar. Perhaps I haint posted up, but seems to me they haint broken the treaty mor'n we have. I know that, says he, but hang 'em, they haint got no friends, an' naows aour time to work aout aour manifest destiny says he. An' besides, says he, there's that pesky Pendylvanean Bughcannon, he's tryin' to circumvent me, an, I must make a splurge. The Greytawn bizness, says he, haint worked as I kalkerlated, an' I wish the devil had Nebrasky, but I'm "young hickory," an' by the Eturnal, I'll make a splurge! An' as he got up an' stomped raound the room he did look uncommon like them red an' blue pictures of General Jackson, but just then he sot into a sneeze which considerably damaged the likeness.

It took about all my money to get on here, an' for several days I supported myself by needlework. When I was in the loggin' swamp, I was obleeged to mend my own clothes, an' got to be quite slick with a needle. This knowledge is sarviceable now. My dimecratic friends have helped me to a number of jobs, for instance, I've darned four pair of stockins for the President, an' have sot several or more patches onto the seat of Mister Marcy's trowsis. It may look like small business for a man 'of my parts to be mendin' old clothes, but I hopes to rise in my perfession. Perhaps another male may bring you news that from mendin' trowsis I've got to patchin' constitootions an' perlayticums.

Its pretty much settled that ef that ere Banks dont take himself aout of the way afore many days, I'm to lick him. I've tuck his measure and can do it. I dont keer for any federalist livin'. I stood by tother day while my friend Rusk licked old Greely, ready to help if needed, but t'want necessary. That ere Rusk is a hoss. Yours,

ETHAN SPIKE.

AN OFFICER SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR COWARDICE.—A letter from the Kertch Bay states that Mr. Doherty, second master of the British screw gunboat Lynx, was tried by court martial for cowardice exhibited during the attack on Kinburn. He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

The New Orleans Sun tells of a machine that has been invented "out South," which enables a man to tell when he is getting too drunk. It is called a fiddlemometer, and gives timely warning by hitting a fellow suddenly under the short ribs the moment he has got enough.

The receipts of the American Tract Society, up to the first day of February inst., are about $10,000 in advance of last year to the same date.

The office of Sheriff of New Orleans was proved, during the recent contest, to be worth $100,000 per annum.

Holloway's Pills, a certain Cure for determination of Blood to the Head. Elias Hope, one of the most celebrated advocates of temperance in the Union, admits that he suffered more than any one he ever heard of from obstruction of blood to the head, although he was more abstemious both in eating and drinking, also in taking rest, yet he was so bad at times, that in the midst of his most eloquent discourses, he was compelled to leave off addressing his auditors, and on several occasions has been carried away from meeting completely senseless. Having seen the good effects of Holloway's Pills, he was induced to give them a trial, and to use his own words, they acted like magic. Has fourteen months ago since he commenced taking this celebrated medicine, which completely cured him in two months, and he has not had any return of the complaint since. These Pills are particularly efficacious in all disorders of the stomach and bowels.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

[From the editor of the Vermont Journal, June 29, 1855]

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY has become one of the established institutions of the country. During the ten years Dr Fowle has been the proprietor of this valuable medicine it has been constantly gaining ground in public confidence. He owns personally known to us to have used it with signal results. Although we have ourself had no occasion to try its medicinal virtues we do not hesitate, from what we know of the experience of others, to pronounce this Balsam one of the most effective remedies for the Asthma and Affections of the Lungs. Physicians in many of the best of them—are in the habit of using it.

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

TELEGRAPHIC

TO THE DAILY WHIG AND COURIER

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb 12

SENATE—Mr Wilson of Mass spoke on the Central American question. He considered the we should at once declare the Clayton and Bulwer treaty null and void, the country of Great Britain justifying its abrogation. He did not apprehend war from such a course.

The Chair laid before the Senate the annual report of the Commissioner on patents.

The consideration of the Central American question was then resumed.

Mr Wilson said, that notwithstanding the declaration of the President, which had been reiterated by distinguished Senators and repeated by the public press throughout the country that our relations with England, growing out of the Central American question, were in a complicated condition, the people of the United States whose instincts are safer than the deductions of statesmen, give little heed to these apprehensions. Far-seeing merchants are planning to send their vessels on distant ventures freighted with full cargoes, in confident anticipation that there will be no rupture of friendly relations with England.

There was not the slightest alarm in the public mind on that score. People are not disturbed from what is passing on the other side by the Mississippi by rumors of war with Great Britain. It is not very probable that the Executive desires war which would extend the boundaries of the country to the shores of that Polar sea gazed on by Dr Kane. There is no such desire, but on addition to the free soil of this Republic in the policy of the administration.

The only result attained by the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty has been a prolific correspondence, and an interminable discussion, which has settled no point in dispute, and arrived at no result. The treaty has not accomplished what the people of this country expected. This ignorance must have been overreached in negotiating the treaty was one not fit to be made. He thought it should once declare it null and void, and that we should stand just as we stood before it was made. The course of Great Britain justifies us in abrogating the treaty. We need not fear her in Central America. She has her send as many Anglo Saxons there as she pleases—no doubt they would make good citizens of this country

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.

SENATE.—Mr. Wilson of Mass. spoke on the Central American question. He contended that we should at once declare the Clayton and Bulwer treaty null and void, the course of Great Britain justifying its abrogation. He did not apprehend war from such a course.

The Chair laid before the Senate the annual report of the Committee on patents.

The consideration of the Central American question was then resumed.

Mr. Wilson said, that notwithstanding the declaration of the President, which had been reiterated by distinguished Senators and repeated by the public press throughout the country, that our relations with England, growing out of the General American question, were in a complicated condition, the people of the United States, whose instincts are safer than the deductions of statesmen, give little heed to these apprehensions. Far-seeing merchants continue to send their vessels on distant ventures freighted with full cargoes, in confident anticipation that there will be no rupture of our friendly relations with England.

There was not the slightest alarm in the public mind on this score. People are not so diverted from what is passing on the other side of the Mississippi by rumors of war with Great Britain. It is not very probable that the Executive desires a war which would extend the boundaries of this country to the shores of that Polar Sea gazed on by Dr. Kane. There is no such desire for an addition of the free soil of this Republic, on the part of the administration.

The only result attained by the Clayton-Bulwer treaty has been a prolific correspondence, and an interminable discussion, which has settled no point in dispute, and arrived at no result. The treaty has not accomplished what the people of this country expected. This government had been overreached in negotiation. The treaty was one not fit to be made. He thought we should at once declare it null and void, and then stand just as we stood before it was made. The course of Great Britain justifies us in abrogating the treaty. We need not fear her in Central America. Let her send as many Anglo-Saxons there as she pleases—no doubt they would make good citizens of this country, when we hereafter come in possession there.

Mr. Mason thought the discussion of the subject rather embarrassed than aided the solution of the difficulties surrounding it. He hoped the question would now be taken on the reference.

Mr. Butler did not look on this question as likely to result in a war with Great Britain. He concurred in the American interpretation of the treaty, but hoped the matter would be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, instead of being further discussed in the Senate.

Mr. Toombs said Mr. Clayton wished to be heard, but was restrained by indisposition. He moved to postpone the subject until Monday, which was carried.

HOUSE.—The House had trials to elect a Printer. Last vote—Follett 65; Wendell 69; Sanford 30. Adjourned.

Proclamation by the President on Kansas Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The President to-day issued a proclamation, setting forth that indications exist that public tranquility and the execution of the laws in Kansas is endangered by the reprehensible acts and purposes of persons, both within and without the territory, who propose to direct and control the first political organization by force; that combinations have been formed therein to resist the execution of the territorial laws, and thus in effect to subvert, by violence, all the present constitutional and legal authority; that persons residing without the territory, but near its borders, contemplate armed intervention in the affairs thereof; that other inhabitants of remote States are collecting money, organizing men and providing arms for the same purposes; that combinations within the territory are ordered by the agency of emissaries and others, to induce individual States of the Union to interfere in the affairs thereof, in violation of the constitution of the United States.

Plans for the determination of the future institutions of the territory, if carried into execution from within the same, will constitute the fact of an insurrection, and if from without, that of invasive aggression, and will in either case justify and require the forcible interposition of the whole power of the general government, as well to maintain the laws of the territory as those of the Union.

He commands all persons engaged in unlawful combinations against the constituted authority of the territory of Kansas, to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes, and warns all such persons, that any attempted insurrection in the territory, or aggressive intrusion into the same, will be resisted, not only by the employment of the local militia, but also by that of any available force of the U.S. troops.

FOOT'S LOVE, LANTERN, AND NURSE LAMP.

ALBERT FOOT, of Penobscot, is desirous of introducing to the public, his invention of

for the purpose, as it is found by more than one million of the coldest winter nights to be indispensable to all who wish to be protected from the cold.

AS A LANTERN,

it answers all the usual purposes, and is likely to be oftener, or get longer used as a house lamp with equal advantage.

AS A NURSE LAMP,

it is of great importance in keeping drinks or meat inside giving the least heat required, and in small quantities. For making tea, toast very convenient, as a quart can be boiled in fifteen minutes, and in the same length of time.

In fact the apparatus can be put to various purposes to which this want of room will not permit us to allude, but we will say that it is recommended by every one, and no one can be found who has used it, but will say they would not be without it for many times its cost.

Salesmen wanted, to whom a liberal discount will be given.

You should bear in mind that these Lanterns are entirely superior to all others now in use, possessing advantages over most of the Lanterns now in use, and are cheaper than similar ones.

New York, Brooklyn, Maine, July 18, 1855.

I have taken $1,000 the year ago last passage from Havana to Charleston, S. C., and have since taken at least $1,000 more at sea. At last take I was taken sick for some days, and was reduced so much that I had to be carried on shore, and remained there about two weeks. I was then induced to try Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, and have to say that from the first bottle I took I found immediate relief, and after taking a large number of bottles I am entirely restored to health. I have been troubled with a pain in the side for many years, and was induced to try Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters. It was the first medicine since, particularly recommended to relieve the pain in the side, and after taking a number of bottles I am entirely restored to health. Mr. Clark, Mayor of Lawrence, Mass., says:

Gentlemen—It affords me pleasure to state that my daughter has been complaining of a severe pain in the side for many years, and about two years ago was very much afflicted with pains between the shoulders. From reading a pamphlet containing Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I was induced to give them to her case, and sent to your agent in Lawrence for a bottle. She had taken one bottle, she was entirely relieved. She is now on the second bottle, and is enjoying good health. She feels no pain in the side, and is in every respect a healthy woman.

Salem, Jan. 1, 1855.

You should bear in mind that these Bitters are entirely vegetable, containing advantages over most of the preparations recommended for similar diseases.

Extract of a letter from Daniel Adams, Esq., of Brookfield, Maine

Rev. Mr. Walter Clark, Dear Sir—I am happy to inform you that your Universal Cough Mixture has been effectual in curing my daughter of a severe cough. I have given it to several persons in this town, and it has proved effectual in every case. I think it the best medicine for coughs I ever saw.

From Rev. Jesse Hoyt, Lewiston Falls

Rev. Clarke—Sir—I have used the Universal Cough Mixture which you gave me, and I take pleasure in recommending it to the public. I was troubled with a cough for many years, and could get no relief, but by the use of your Mixture I was entirely relieved, and have been perfectly satisfied with its effects. One man who had a cough that was distressing, attended with exhaustion of the system, has used it and is now well. Another was relieved of a cough that was very distressing, and has been perfectly cured, and has recommended it to others. He says it is the best medicine in the world, and cannot be too much recommended for its purity.

JESSE HOYT.

From Mr. Fletcher Cook, agent for North Dreamer, Maine

Dear Sir—I consider that your compositions have been effectual in relieving Mr. Daniel Cough Mixture in the most several cases of coughs of a severe nature, and others who have been troubled with coughs, adding great to the beauty of complexion. Never, in no case, will it leave the least mark or scar. It will draw bunches from the Stomach, Lungs, Throat, and leave the Head and Eyes, by an instant application. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty, and restoring the sight.

Purifying the Blood, restoring all diseases arising from an Impure State of the Blood, whether it be Scrofulous, Syphilitic, Rheumatic, Cutaneous or Constitutional, and whether existing in the Solids or Fluids of the body, this is an unfailing remedy. Such Affections, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Pains and Swellings of the Bones, Tetter, Pimples on the Face, and all Eruptions of the Skin.

It is gratifying to the proprietor of these medicines to be able to state that it is now nearly three years since they were first introduced, during which time they have been extensively used in various parts of the United States, and have given to patient and practitioner the highest degree of satisfaction in their every operation. Cures have been effected in every community, even in general practice, they have invariably given the most decided and unequivocal satisfaction, and produced the most salutary and beneficial effects. Numerous letters have been received from the most distinguished physicians in the country, and from the Faculty of several medical colleges, recommending in the strongest terms the value of these medicines and their superiority over all other preparations for such complaints as the proprietor recommends. Numerous preparations of Sarsaparilla and Buchu, and various modes of preparing them have been, of course, will differ according to the mode of preparation which each individual may adopt.

These medicines require considerable care in the preparation, and the employment of different menstrua in successive operations, to take up the extractive matters, and, in consequence, are most frequently improperly made, and not unfrequently much impaired, if not rendered entirely inert, by the injudicious and unskilful management of those unacquainted with pharmaceutical preparations. It is therefore of the highest consideration and importance to the public, and to the faculty, that there should be a standard preparation, of uniform strength and possessing the most advantages. To effect this, and obviate the evil alluded to, I have made a number of experiments to ascertain the most effectual mode of extracting the virtues of the Sarsaparilla and the Buchu, and to discover the most eligible form for their exhibition. The experiments have resulted most favorably, and it is with much pleasure I now offer to the public, and the faculty my Compound Fluid Extracts, which contain all the virtues of the articles they are represented to be made from in a highly concentrated form; and are the most active preparations which can be made. Two table spoonfuls of the Extract Sarsaparilla added to a pint of water is equal to the Lisbon diet drink, and one bottle of the fully equals a strength one gallon of Syrup Sarsaparilla or decoction as usually made.
